*In this, our book, we're going to try
Our best to make you see
How we've developed our physique
And our mentality.*

*But that's not all that we have done,
Turn on and you will find,
That we've also kept our moral
And our social life in mind.*

MARSHALS

It's 7:30... Nancy here?... Marilyn looks cute... Why doesn't Robinette hurry?... Who's got the pins?... O-oh! My best hose... Ginny's got a date... Don't need but six... tickets, please... don't be late next time... My feet ache... Just follow me... Where's the lipstick?... Do we wear long dresses... Net, s'pose the mascot won't?... White, and it's raining... Good crowd... parents sit in front... Don't push... Any more programs?... Where is Mr. Lipscomb?... No, you take him down... goodness, how many more... We don't have to stand!... oh, thank you!... sh-h close that door... Hold these tickets... yes, sir-uh-huh-yes sir... Feel like the... gee, you look good... never thought I'd get it... well, it's fun... Sure course we get tired... Just smile and take it.

SCHOOL SONG

Here's to Reidsville High School,
Faithful and bold,
Here's to her colors
Navy blue and gold.
Here's to boys and girls,
Who come and go,
Singing the victory song
of R. H. S.

CHEERLEADERS

OFFICERS

A black and white photograph of four students sitting on a brick wall. From left to right: a girl in a dark jacket and skirt, a girl in a dark jacket and skirt, a boy in a light sweater and dark pants, and a girl in a light jacket and skirt. They are all smiling and looking towards the camera.

EDITOR'S NOTE

We, the Senior Class of 1944, bring you a new RENOCAHI. We have tried to give you a well-rounded picture of our high school life—our moral, mental, social, and physical development. In days and years to come its pages will revive fond memories of your years in Reidsville High. We of the RENOCAHI staff sincerely hope that you will treasure this book—not presented as a great literary product but simply as a picture of your beautiful and happy years at Reidsville High.

A new stadium is no longer a dream, but a reality. Because of the generosity of Mr. W. B. Kiker and other good citizens, Reidsville High School will have one of the best high school stadiums in North Carolina. When finished, the recreation field will include a tennis court, a swimming pool, and an athletic field, as well as grounds for picnics. The above picture (center) shows the breaking of the ground.

History of the Class

"WHEN WE WERE YOUNG"

Even though the odds seem against a pleasant and prosperous future for the seniors of the class of '44—from the history you are about to read you will readily see that they will rough and tough the stormy path ahead with little danger of being dragged under by the ever sweeping undertow.

The majority of our class occupied seats in the old Franklin Street Graded School for our first three years of learning. There, under the guidance of understanding teachers, we learned the fundamentals of the three R's, "reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic." It was in our fourth year that a grade separation took place. Two new schools were added to the cities property, plus the remodeling of Franklin. As separations from friends are usually unpleasant, this one was not different. But through football games, parties and the like, we went through the next three years in high spirits. Life really began for us in the seventh grade: for it was then that the whole flock was placed together again in Franklin Street School. Graduation day was probably the most exciting; for we received our certificates. Mary Anne Young was valedictorian, and Wilburn Thorton, salutatorian. "The Three Little Fishes," then top on the hit parade, was tops with us too.

When September rolled around, we were all at last grown. We were in high school! We didn't need to wear any little green caps to show that we were new-comers; for our actions showed that quite plainly. However, it wasn't long before we caught on to the curriculum.

Because of the progress our eighth grade president, Wilburn Thorton, made during his term of office, freshman executive Hugh P. Griffin had little trouble fulfilling his duties. The end of this year really called for celebrating; for a large number of us had completed two full years of Latin—and passed. As usual, there were always a few who were such ardent admirers of dear old Caesar that they had to linger over a couple of years longer. Chestina Evans was one.

YOUNG AND GAY"

James Jones won the fall election for sophomore president. It was during this year that Peggy Adams was crowned "Miss Reidsville High." Hugh Griffin held the coveted position of treasurer of the student organization. Not only were we sophomores active in the student government, but the school's clubs too.

Juniors now, and only two rounds to go until that diploma would be ours. Lois Roberts was high official that year. From the three presidential candidates from the sticks who ran in the spring primary for student council president, James Jones won. Many of us were on the staff of the school paper, The Renocahi. Our Junior-Senior picnic and square dance, and the daisy chain were the two outstanding events of the year.

Nineteen hundred and forty-four! Just another year you say? Well, not to us, for we were at last seniors. We elected Wilburn Thornton, president; Carolyn Barber, vice-president; Treva Rascoe, secretary; and Robert Grogan, treasurer. Judy Ratcliff and David Small were our class mascots. Sarah Clark was editor-in-chief of our annual, RENOCAHI. Sara Anne Burton, Doris Royster, Lois Tucker and Susan Anne Womack were senior cheerleaders. Our basketball teams were good cagers; as Pearl Garrison and Johnny McAdams were their captains. We were proud of our football boys with Charles Nichols and "Mustard" Walker as co-captains. We tied for the Class B State Championship, and Charles Nichols and Tom Fetzer made the All-State Team. Many were members of the council and assembly.

Thus, twelve years of glorious, exciting times have ended. Happy? Yes, because we have earned our diplomas, and sad because we'll probably never be in one group again. But, with heads high, we'll walk out of Reidsville High School with one aim in mind—that of helping win this fight for freedom of all mankind.

LOIS ROBERTS

PROPHECY

We are now in Reidsville, North Carolina, and it is the middle of May in the year 1954. The class of 1944 is gathered around, and, for once, this class reunion is not held in a football stadium. Although football still ranks tops in the Reidsville sports, we find the alumni of R. H. S. all inside the new "Hugh P. Paladium," a huge hardwood building with space for square dancing.

The prominent tobacco farmer James Jones is calling the set to the rhythm of an old-time "hoe down" by Elwood Coleman and his "String Strainers." A few of the outstanding couples on the floor are ice-cream magnate "Bobby" Daniels and nurse Gladys Gammon, and chemist Grove Cummings and the new dietitian for Memorial Hospital, Kathleen Meador. There, beyond the music is that drygoods dealer, "Mustard" Walker, swinging the district superintendent of the Red Cross, Suzan Ann Womack.

Playboy Wesley Burton, who arrived late as usual, has singled out the home economics instructor of W. C., Sarah Clark, and they ease out on the terrace with cat-like quickness. Over in the far corner of the floor the lady lawyer, Peggy Adams, and her friend Dorothy Handy, the female postman, are arguing as to which of them gets to dance with the postmaster, Harry Cardwell. Not so far from them the public typist Bobby Lou Hundley is teasing warehouseman Johnny MacAdams for watching the floor show too closely and flirting with the chorus of '44—Dorothy Bullock, Chestina Evans, Patricia Perkins, Grey Stanfield, Doris Royster, Nellie Ruth Walker, and Beulah Lester. After the floor show, the crowd dances to the beautiful "Stardust" arrangement by the famous pianists Lois Roberts and Lois Tucker.

Bill Blaylock, manage-owner of the new motion-picture house of Reidsville, is discussing social affairs with Carolyn Barber, the art director of the million dollar picture, "Came Back With The Wind," starring Leon McWhorter, Grey Tuck, Fred Gregory, and Irene Wall.

The string band starts playing again, and Doctors Hugh Griffin and Harvey Chaney interrupt their discussion on the recent influenza preventive they discovered, and get two of the ladies, Winnie Apple and Benny Justice, out on the floor for a dance. A few of the housewives who made their way to the Paladium tonight are: Margaret Craddock, Doris Gammon, Virginia Brown, Louise Talley, and Mary Frances Stanfield.

The mayor of the town, Wilburn Thornton, is just coming in. He is escorted by the newspaper edition, Robert Grogan and his staff typist, Marjorie Carter. Also with Mayor Thornton are the former WAC members from Reidsville: Katie Martin, Iris Shreve, Virginia Simmons, and Treva Rascoe.

Mayor Thornton stops the dancing for a brief moment to present honorary awards to truck farmers Henry Brannock, Lucile Burton, Rhodalia Chapmon, Mable Gann, and Cletis Cook for producing in their gardens the biggest vegetables of the year. Farmer Brannock states, "The success of my potato crop this year was due entirely to the new sun shades which I used to keep the hot sun out of the eyes of the potatoes."

Joey Arthur, the "swoon crooner" of the season, has just moaned a few words of that old love song, "Pistol Packin' Mama," and the romantical socialites of the town, Lucile McMichael, Ann Small, Irma Lee Chrismon, and Clara Mae Childrey have begun to swoon and fall out almost as efficiently as they could when they were younger.

That couple clearing the dance floor with their athletic type of dancing is none other than the Olympic winners, Tom Fetzer and Sarah Ann Burton. They are still in fine shape. Albert Chandler, the local wholesale grocer, provided the food for this gala occasion, and it was prepared by his assistants, Yvonne Wilkes, Cleo Roberts, Georgia Hooper, and Eunice Inman. Interior decorators Marie Butler and Erna Nell Carter are to be recognized for their beautiful job of making the Paladium look and feel like old R. H. S.

Make way for a crowd, don't shove, stand back, and let in that rough and ready, rootin', shootin', he-man from 'way back, Ezekiel Hull. After 20 years of being a runt, "Zeke" had a gland operation, and he is now a big physicist in size and quality. Behind "Zeke," with his heels already clicking to the rhythm of the "String Strainers'" version of that moving melody, "I Ain't Gonna Work on the Railroads," comes Jack Scott, head of the wrecker service of the "Lucky City," with a whole string of women such as Louise Faircloth, Pearl Garrison, Virginia McKinney, and Grey Parks.

Business manager of the Reidsville paper, Mae Paschal, and publisher, Ruth Evans, take notes of this occasion with a write-up for the Sunday edition in mind. Raymond Ragsdale and Allen Seay are in charge of the television broadcasts from Greensboro, and they are catching the high spots of the night for their broadcast. Edith Talley sings a torch song for the television camera and Clifton Turner, with the aid of comic Wendell Owen, puts on a little skit advertising the electricity business. The slogan of the Turner-Owen Power Company is, "Turner Owen your lights while you're Owen us dough, and we'll Turner you over to the police."

As Charles Nichols, the "Big Shot" of the A. T. company lures contractor Neal Pegram to the punch bowl, we leave this merry crowd to their celebrating and enter into the dark, uncertain clouds of the future, not to return until another twenty years has passed by and the remaining few of the class of '44 shall meet again.

P.S.—Anyone wishing information about the future see Prophet Hugh P.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Seniors, the class of '44, of the Reidsville High School, of North Carolina, having completed our course in the pursuit of knowledge and working to distribute our assets equally, do, hereby, execute this last will and testament.

ARTICLE I. To Mr. Perry, we offer our warmest thanks and sincere appreciation for his complete understanding and helpful concern in us through our school life.

ARTICLE II. To Mr. Lipscomb, we leave our deep and sincere appreciation for his helpful guidance and for making our five years in high school be filled with happiness.

ARTICLE III. To Miss Cooper, with our deepest gratitude and kindest thanks for her most helpful guidance and inspiring view of life, we leave our annual.

ARTICLE IV. To Miss Conley, we express our warmest thanks for her never ending work with the annual.

ARTICLE V. To all the high school faculty we leave our deep and genuine appreciation for their guidance given so gladly to prepare us for the future.

ARTICLE VI. To the janitors we leave a can of shellac and a jar of plastic wood to repair the desks we have badly abused.

A GUIDING STAR

No longer are we sheltered by
The good old halls of Reidsville High.
They've been our refuge year by year,
Our memory of them will always be dear.

Out into the wide, unfriendly world,
Our fate before us lies unfurled.
Success and sorrow, joy and tears,
They lie in store among the years.

But we'll not falter with a sigh,
We'll meet them all with heads held high!
We'll put out knowledge to the test
And give to the world our very best.

Our paths will lead us all afar,
But always, as a guiding star,
The knowledge gained in high school days
Will lead us to success and praise.
